AnsaldoBreda is awarded Miami train contract

We are glad to announce that our partner AnsaldoBreda has been awarded a $ 300 million contract for the supply of 130 rail cars for the Miami-Dade Transit system.

'This further success for AnsaldoBreda shows how our worldwide re-positioning programme is achieving the expected results', said AnsaldoBreda CEO Maurizio Manfellotto. 'We are increasingly able to offer innovative products both in terms of technology and quality, maintaining a high level of competitiveness. On this occasion we have taken the lead over our French and Spanish qualified competitors in the US market where we have been present for many years.'

Meanwhile, AnsaldoBreda is moving forward with the design of trains for Honolulu and will begin manufacturing these cars. In just a few years, Honolulu and Miami will join Washington DC, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Atlanta, Boston, and Cleveland as US cities served by Ansaldo.
